From the time you were born each day brings the growth of once a small being to a mature responsible person. The duration of life brings many new things, from the time of your first baby step, to the day of your graduation. Years of which that are filled with many surprises/experiences the Bumps in the road that make you who you are.

Morning to night, Twenty four hours in a day, a world filled with trillions of people. as you look around you, you see vast amounts of people like yourself who are experiencing many new things. By trying out new things you are truly learning, maturing and seeing things in a whole new perspective. You see and use different ways and methods of doing tasks and look back and see who you once were and who you are today.

I see each day as a new challenge, a sort of adventure. My head held high as I know I can do anything I set my mind out to do. By taking risks and making mistakes are just the mere Imperfections in which make me think twice next time.

From the time I was little my parents guided me through life. Sheltering me from pain, sorrow, and heartbreak taking away the experiences in which they thought would hurt me. Now as a young Adult I need and I strongly believe people in general need to see things for themselves and feeling the feelings in which we never felt before in order to mature into a strong fully capable Adult.

The Stepping Stones of the term “life” aren’t always flat and easy and you have to work from many things this experience the greatest of all may be tough and sometimes you may want to give up but just try your best and you can achieve the impossible.

Experiences to me are seen as a gift. So many lessons in which to learn and grow to become a better person. Experience helps greatly to help you mature physically and mentally and is the mark of a new adventure as each day is a challenge full of experiences.
